Something to note: While you are in your account in Password Central, once you answer your three security questions, you won't be prompted to answer them again during this login session. This means that if you use one of the modules in Password Central and answer the three security questions, you won't be asked to answer those three security questions again when clicking on another module, until you sign out of Password Central.

* Test Password:

If you'd like to test the strength of a password, you can do so on the Test Password section.

Make sure the Test Type field says DC and the Domain field says AHS. You can see below, the password I tested did not meet the complexity criteria set by the State's IT policies. Click Done when finished. Remember, this section is just for testing password strength. It will not change your password.

Test New Password

Enter a new password. When you click 'Test', we'll see if it passes your Organization's password policies. Please note that it does not check against your password history. Your password will NOT be changed.

Test Type:	<input type="text" value="DC"/>
Domain:	<input type="text" value="AHS"/>
New Password:	<input type="text"/>
User's Full Name:	Vansuch, Basil

The password you supplied does not meet the complexity requirements set by the domain policy:

- Must Not contain your user account name.
- Must Not contain part of your account display name.
- Must contain at least one character from three of the following four categories:
 - An uppercase character (A through Z).
 - A lowercase character (a through z).
 - A number (0 through 9).
 - A special non-alphanumeric character (for example, !, $, #, %), extended ASCII, or symbol.
